

Acknowledgements

This thesis represents many experiences that I have encountered at Indian Institute of Technology Jodhpur. It reflects efforts of many individuals who have contributed their parts and provided essential support for the completion of this work. First and foremost, I owe my highest gratitude to my research advisor, Dr. Amit Kumar Mishra for his continuous support and firm belief in my abilities. I immensely appreciate his patience, motivation and highly skilled mentorship that was a crucial factor behind successful completion of this thesis work. Besides him, I must thank my respected committee members, Dr. Meenu Chhabra, Dr. Sushmita Jha, and Dr. Samanwita Pal, for their critical inputs, insightful comments, and encouraging support throughout the period of work. Their guidance incented me to widen my knowledge in many perspectives into different domains of research.

I must show my gratefulness to my lab members Dr. Deepak Chhangani, Mr. Bharat Pareek, Vibhuti, Ayeman, and Ribhav, who extended their extreme support in the entire duration of my research work; and also stood beside me in many difficult situations. I extend my warm gratitude to different professors for providing me crucial support in the form of various research materials. I am also thankful to different administrative sections, staff members and Director of IIT Jodhpur for providing me conducive environment of research. The services provided by IIT Jodhpur mess and many tea shops also need to be acknowledged.

I am highly indebted to my parents, brother, sister and all the family members for their continuous patience and encouragements that tremendously supported me and helped me come out of many low moments. I also remember my Late Uncle Dr. G. S. Upadhyay, whom I lost in the duration of Ph.D. research; he was a deep inspiration behind me aspiring for higher studies and taking scientific research as my career. I must mention the names of my friends Shalini and Sachin for the extensive care and affection in last five years. I must acknowledge the silent presence of my school teachers, and many friends, who have always shown deep faith in me and my abilities that helped me a lot to complete this journey.

In the last, I must thank to the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research (CSIR)-University Grants Commission (UGC) for providing me research fellowship.

Arun Kumar Upadhyay
Ph.D. Student

...

